

Opa Europa

© Photos by antic teatre

Tanz tanz sonst sind wir verloren

She is Hellas. Choreographer Angela Lamprianidou moves between her various identities (Spanish, German and Greek) and enters into different realities. Angela was born in Germany, her origins are Greek, and she has lived in Barcelona for the last 11 years. This combination of identities means she can flow between the three geographic and/or mental states.

Using Greek mythology and traditional Greek dance, she establishes a dialogue between her biography and current politics. Us and the polis.

"Zeus comes along and steals Europa. If only this could happen today!"

"The interviews and encounters between audience, guests, Zeus and Europa are a meal both light and indigestible, so please make sure that you don't eat, fuck or shit before the show!"

Tanz, tanz oder wir sind verloren (dance, dance, or we are lost) - is this all that we have left?"

Choreography and Artistic Direction: Angela Lamprianidou

Interpretation: Paqiro Lopèz, Eli Ruiz Fernandez Guest, Angela Lamprianidou

Music: Dimitris Mitropanos, Melina Merkouri, Greek Music and Soul

& voice en off: Julia Koch

Lights: Andres Acebes

Colaboradors: Antic Teatre Barcelona, Jakob Kremer production 2012 oktober

Technical needs:

stage min: variable, could be inside and outdoor performance, from 6x6 to 10x10, white linoleum

sound: 1 lavalier and 2 handheld micros, 3.5mm-stereo-mini-jack for computer